The Georgia Olive Growers Association is hosting Adam Englehardt with California Olive Ranch to give an overview and answer questions regarding a proposed federal marketing order for olive oil with the Georgia olive industry. Englehardt has been a friend of the Georgia olive industry and has been one of the active voices of the U.S. olive industry advocating the need for a marketing order. Paul Miller, President of the Australian Olive Association, will also be in attendance. Miller was the featured speaker at the Olive Educational Conference in Savannah and has been integral in helping establishing olive oil standards around the world.
